

Faster English Shift with Solid Power Distribution

Solid Power Distribution s.r.o. operates in the field of wholesale for photovoltaic power plants. It is an authorized distributor of global brands with premium quality products. They provide not only professional services, but also strive for maximum customer satisfaction. Therefore, at the communicative level, they consider English to be a necessity for their employees, both when communicating with clients and working with global business partners and suppliers.

Traditional English methods of learning have kept staff language development moving at a slow pace. The company found a solution when trying a more progressive teaching method, TEHESO with American teachers.

“We were surprised with the first lesson how relaxed and natural English lessons can be. Although the classes are conducted online, the conversations are conducted in a friendly and personal atmosphere.”

Another challenge was finding the time to study with such busy schedules. This could be solved simply by individually planning each lesson with TEHESO and its teachers.

„In particular, busy colleagues appreciate the flexibility to plan lessons that they easily adapt to their busy work schedule.“

The result is a dramatic shift and improvement in the English spoken by Solid Power Distribution employees.

“Our people studying with TEHESO affirm their progress. When communicating in English, they recall much better the necessary vocabulary and compose sentences perfectly, following all the grammar rules. They also pay more attention to pronunciation.”

Spoken language as the main point of the lessons

TEHESO lecturers are native American speakers who are also qualified teachers specializing in teaching students from non-English speaking countries. From the first lesson, they draw students into a relaxed and natural teaching method, which is mainly about improving spoken language. This way of teaching has excellent results.
